Section 1/3 - DISCLOSURE REGARDING REAL ESTATE AGENCY RELATIONSHIP

DISCLOSURE REGARDING REAL ESTATE AGENCY RELATIONSHIP

When you enter into a discussion with a real estate salesperson or broker regarding a real estate transaction, you should from the outset understand what type of agency relationship or representation you will have with the salesperson or broker in the transaction.

AGENCY RELATIONSHIPS

According to CT Law a separate document, DISCLOSURE REGARDING REAL ESTATE AGENCY RELATIONSHIP, must be provided to you by a real estate licensee at the first personal meeting that you have with an agent to discuss or preview a specific property. In some instances, an additional disclosure document, DISCLOSED DUAL AGENCY, must be provided to you as well.

 PLEASE NOTE - THIS DISCLOSURE DOCUMENT IS NOT CONTRACT *****

This is a disclosure notice for your information and protection. Special attention should be given to the descriptions of the different types of agency representation on this disclosure document.

TYPES OF AGENCY REPRESENTATION

SELLER'S AGENT

A seller can engage the services of a real estate agent to sell his property (called the listing agent) and the real estate agent is then the agent for the seller who becomes the agent's client. This means that the real estate agent represents the seller. The agent owes the seller undivided loyalty, reasonable care, disclosure, obedience to lawful instruction, confidentiality and accountability, provided, however, that the agent must disclose known material defects in the real estate. The agent must put the seller's interests first and negotiate for the best price and terms for their client, the seller. (The seller may authorize sub-agents to represent him/her in marketing its property to buyers, however the seller should be aware that wrongful action by the real estate agent or sub-agents may subject the seller to legal liability for those wrongful actions).

BUYER'S AGENT

A buyer can engage the services of a real estate agent to purchase property and the real estate agent is then the agent for the buyer who becomes the agent's client. This means that the real estate agent represents the buyer. The agent owes the buyer undivided loyalty, reasonable care, disclosure, obedience to lawful instruction, confidentiality and accountability, provided, however, that the agent must disclose known material defects in the real estate. The agent must put the buyer's interests first and negotiate for the best price and terms for their client, the buyer. (The buyer may also authorize sub-agents to represent him/her in purchasing property, however the buyer should be aware that wrongful action by the real estate agent or sub-agents may subject the buyer to legal liability for those wrongful actions).

DISCLOSED DUAL AGENT

A broker can work for both the BUYER and SELLER on the same property provided such broker obtains the informed written consent of both parties. The broker is then considered a DISCLOSED DUAL AGENT. This broker owes BOTH the BUYER and SELLER a duty to deal with them honestly and fairly. In this type of agency relationship the broker does represent both the BUYER and SELLER and they cannot expect the broker's undivided loyalty. IT IS ILLEGAL FOR A BROKER TO OPERATE AS AN UNDISCLOSED DUAL AGENT

CONSUMER INFORMATION

Whether you are the BUYER or SELLER you can choose to have the advice, assistance and representation of your own agent. Do not assume that a broker is acting on your behalf unless you have contracted with that broker to represent you. All real estate licensees must, by law, present all properties honestly and accurately. When you are the BUYER you have the option of selecting how you wish to be represented, either by an agent acting on your behalf as a Buyer's Agent, or by an agent acting on the behalf of the seller as a subagent of the seller. If you, as the BUYER, choose to work with a seller's agent or subagent you should divulge only what you would tell the seller directly.

CONSUMER RESPONSIBILITY

The above duties of the agent in a real estate transaction do not relieve a seller or buyer from the responsibility to protect their own interests. You should carefully read all agreements to assure that they adequately express your understanding of the transaction. A real estate agent is a person qualified to advise about real estate. If legal or tax advice is desired, consult a competent professional. Throughout your real property transaction you may receive more than one (1) disclosure form, depending upon the number of agents assisting in the transaction. A disclosure form is required by law to be signed by all parties. You should read its contents each time it is presented to you, considering the relationship between you and the real estate agent in your specific transaction.
